Recognition

Although Wood Badge is a training course, not a recognition program, completion of Wood Badge does serve to recognize leadership. Recognition for the successful completion of Wood Badge consists of a certificate, a distinctive Wood Badge neckerchief with a woggle and the Wood Badge (two wooden beads worn on a leather thong around the neck). The Wood Badge is recognized worldwide as a symbol of practical training and leadership experience. There are two parts to a Wood Badge training course in the Boy Scouts of America, the practical course and the application period.

The Practical Course

For two 3-full-day week-ends, you will live, learn, and work with other Scouters while being exposed to the leadership skills applicable to the development of both adults and youth. Through this living and working experience, you will develop knowledge and practical understanding of these leadership skills. During this time you will develop a set of goals to be completed in the next 6 to 18 months called a "Ticket".

The Application Period

During the application period you will apply the leadership skills that you have learned by working towards the goals (your "Ticket") established during the practical portion of the course. Throughout this period, each person is assigned a Troop Guide who acts as a resource, a counselor, and a Scouting Friend. Your guide will help you complete your Ticket and accomplish your goals in Scouting by applying what you have learned. A maximum of 18 months is allowed between the practical experience and final certification.

Uniforms

The Wood Badge course is a uniformed activity. The uniform you wear will be that which is required for your primary registered position in your unit and will include the official BSA shirt, pants (or shorts), belt, socks, and cap. More information regarding uniforming will be reviewed at a Pre-course meeting to be held at August, 2019 Roundtables.

A Question of Money?

Some dedicated Scouters find the financial obligation of training a true burden. Help is available through several sources. Be sure to check for this support from your unit's sponsoring organization, or even your employer. Civic organizations often have funds available. If additional assistance is needed, please contact the Course Director.

Tax Deductions

Some costs related to participating in this course may be Federal Income Tax deductions such as costs of uniforms, transportation, course fee, and meal costs away from home overnight. Please consult your tax advisor.
